

Technology intermediation services for the Construction and Real Estate industry

Who we are

Propernet is an e-Business consulting firm that targets especially the Construction and Real Estate industry.

Our team provides you an ideal mix of skills to gain your trust as Technology Intermediation party.

In fact, we'll put at your service a wide technology knowledge, and not only that. Industry-specific knowledge and environment awareness are part of our team members background, and we bet you will acknowledge this as the element that differentiates us from other technology outsourcing firms currently on the market.

Propernet

TAKE YOUR PROJECTS AND PROPERTIES ON THE INTERNET

<http://www.propernet.com>

What we do

We are aware that customer satisfaction is built through highly usable solutions, user training and support. Nothing less, nothing more: all the 3 components have to be in place.

We will never provide you overly-powerful solution with poor usability, little or no training and support, which are more likely to slow you down than being helpful. And even more likely to be quickly dismissed.

Our Products are designed with USABILITY and BOTTOM LINE VALUE in minds. The internet is an extremely powerful tool in just any industry to help you saving money, doing your business better by drastically reducing waste and improving your visibility.

Should your needs be not satisfied by established Products, we also offer a wide range of customized technology intermediation Services: if you are not willing to integrate a new technology into your business completely by yourselves, we are here to help.

Your benefits

Please read more about our Products on our Web site. Here is a brief summary:

- PROJECT ONLINE is our product designed for the Construction Industry. It is an e-Collaboration web site aimed at dramatically improve communications among project team members, who may share, comment and approve project-related electronic documents in a unique online repository.
- PROPERTY ONLINE is our product designed primarily for Real Estate agents. It is a web site featuring an e-Catalogue where they can add and update a wide range of visual and numerical information about their properties, in a seamless way, anytime from anywhere. We believe the competitive advantage this solution provides when compared to traditional newspapers ads will be quite striking.

